The University of Rochester Department of Philosophy invites graduate students to submit to the 10th Biennial Graduate Epistemology Conference. We welcome submissions in the field of analytic epistemology, broadly construed. Such submissions can include papers that address epistemological issues in philosophy of science, ethics, philosophy of mind, philosophy of language, philosophy of religion, or metaphysics. The keynote speaker for this year's conference is Jennifer Lackey of Northwestern University, and our distinguished alumnus speaker is Kevin McCain of University of Alabama-Birmingham.

Guidelines

Paper length: 3,500 words, excluding notes and references

Abstract: 200 words or fewer

Format: PDF or Word Document

Papers should be suitable for blind review: please omit any self-identifying marks within the body of the paper.

Submission Deadline: August 1st

The papers can be submitted via EasyChair, which will allow for the identifying information of the author to be submitted in a separate form, here:
